LEGION HOSPITAL COMMITTEE REPORTS CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS

John D. Rutherford, Jr., chairman of the American Legion hospital committee reported progress after a meeting at the Legion Home on Tuesday night.

Among visitors showing a deep interest in the Legion's Hospital program were Eugene Mogabgab, local architect and Dr. Shipp of the State Health Department, he said. Floor plans for a hospital were discussed and explained by Mr. Mogabgab to the Legionnaires. Many facts concerning the construction, operation and maintenance of a hospital were explained by Dr. Shipp.

Pieces on several pieces of property in Bay St. Louis and outside the city limits which might be suitable for the location of a hospital have been studied by the committee. It was revealed that several pieces of property have been offered to the Legion without cost as a site for a hospital.

None of these sites have been accepted or declined at the present time.

The committee has made contact with Foster L. Fowler, Director of the State Commission of Hospital Care. Mr. Fowler has assured the committee that he will be in Bay St. Louis within the next few days with the committee, city and county officials, doctors and other interested citizens to discuss possible plans for a hospital. It is understood that Mr. Fowler will view the various sites offered to the Legion and decide which properties are most suitable for the location of a hospital.

Members of the committee felt that much progress has been made and that the general reaction of the citizens of Hancock County has been reassuring. The committee reaffirmed its intention of seeing the project to the successful conclusion of a new and modern hospital in Hancock County.

Nelson rescued the boy's eight-year-old sister, Laura Jean, and the others swam to safety.

Mrs. Alleyne Haas, the boy's aunt, said "Efforts were made to revive the youth, whose body was recovered in water about eight feet deep by Russell Mitchell."

The youngsters parents and brothers and sisters had been spending a vacation in this area. He is survived by four sisters and one brother.

'I Didn't Do It,' Cries Man Accused Of Brutal Jordan River Murder; Three Witnesses Say He's Guilty

By GREGORY FAVRE
(c) 1954 Sea Coast Echo

As tears rolled down the cheeks of his four year old son, Howard Boyter, was taken to jail to face a murder charge.

This occurred Saturday morning shortly after John Novak, a former New Orleans resident, was found dead on the banks of Jordan River. He died of a fractured skull resulting from a severe blow to the head, officials said.

Boyter, denied striking the death blow, even though he is faced with three eye witness accounts.

He stated, "I know nothing about Novak's death."

In his statement to Sheriff John Egloff, Boyter described the incident: "John Novak, my wife, my son and I were fishing. We had made a camp by the Jordan and it was there that I met some men. They had a bottle and asked me if I wanted a taste. I took a small swallow but I didn't like it. It was corn whiskey. They told me that they would give me some perch to use as bait. After a while they left in their car. When they returned they had a fifth of whiskey. They also brought another man with them. After a while a couple of the men went to sleep. Then John missed the bottle of whiskey."

He told me that I should know where it was. I told him that I didn't, and that he would have to ask one of the men. I then went to bed.

When I woke up before dawn to go out and set my line, I saw John lying down. I thought he was sleeping. The other men were not there. After I came back in my wife woke up and she and my son and I were getting ready to go out fishing again. I told my wife to wake John up. I told her to pour some water in his face. When he didn't wake up I thought he was just drunk. So I pulled him out of the sun and left him there while we went fishing again."

The thin, gray haired, nervous man continued, "When we came back the second time we found John wrapped in a sheet. There was a big crowd around him. I didn't know he was hurt. If I had thought he was I would have taken him to a doctor. That is all I know about it."

When Sheriff Egloff told Boyter that he had three eye witnesses that saw him hit Novak, the accused man said, "I didn't hit him. I had no reason to do anything like that. I wasn't drunk for I had taken only one drink. The only thing I can say is that I got in with the wrong company."

Boyter's wife, Regina, was called in for questioning.

At first she testified that she knew nothing about what went on. But later on she said, "I did hear some arguing that night. It was over a bottle of whiskey."

The 30 year old woman told of her meeting with the dead man. She said, "My husband and I lived in Gentilly a few months ago. John Novak was our next door neighbor. He lived by himself so we used to bring him things to eat. When we moved over here he came with us. He has been staying with us for the past three months."

She added, "Novak liked to drink a lot. That morning when I woke up I saw him lying on the ground. When I went over I noticed that he was bleeding from the nose. I poured some water in his face and the bleeding stopped. I believe that he was breathing at that time. I just thought he was drunk so we went fishing. When we came back we found out that he was dead."

She stated that her husband had no reason to kill Novak. "There was no jealousies between the two of them. I can say that when John got drunk he was nasty."

The three eye witnesses in the case are Gaston Lee, G. W. Lee, and Roosevelt Faye. Gaston, the elder Lee, gave an account of what he had seen to Sheriff Egloff at the death scene.

He said, "We were sitting by the fire that night. Novak and Boyter got into some kind of argument."

At this time, he said, Novak told Boyter, "I'll kill you, I'll kill you." Novak was getting up when Boyter reached into the fire and grabbed a board and hit him on the side of the head. I jumped up and grabbed him before he hit him the second time. I told my son and Roosevelt that we had better leave. I didn't think the man was dead. Before then I had never seen either of the men."

At the preliminary hearing before Judge Selph at Kiln, Boyter, who has served a previous prison term for burglary in Louisiana, waived his case over to the grand jury. He said "Maybe the grand jury will dig up some information that will help me."

Yesterday morning, with tears in his eyes, Boyter told the Echo, "John was one of the best friends I had. I shared everything that I bought with him. When I bought tobacco I just put it on the shelf and told him to take some anytime he wanted to. He has lived and ate with us for three months. I had no reason to kill him."

I know they have a tough case built up against me but all I can tell is what I know. I have told everything that happened that night. I don't know how he was killed or who killed him. All I know is that I didn't do it."

Novak's son, Gene, who lives in New Orleans, identified the belongings and body of his father earlier this week. He was buried in Bay St. Louis yesterday morning.

PEACH TREE CARE
Peach tree borers can be controlled with DDT, if properly applied, at the right intervals.
Here's how. Mix one pound of 50 percent DDT wettable powder with each 12 gallons of water. Spray the trunk and lower parts of large limbs.

Make first application in early August, the second in early September and a third in early October. After using this treatment, go back in late October or November and examine closely the base of trees. If you find any borers, treat the infested tree with ethylene dichloride emulsion.

POULTRY

Help out the hens in your laying flock and they will help you. Hens especially need pampering during hot weather. They must have plenty of ventilation and cool fresh water. Only 30 hot sultry days may mean some hens dead of suffocation.

Summer management is vital if you are going to make money from your laying flock.
If the hens are kept comfortable, given plenty of air, good feed and cool water, they will lay more eggs and make you more money.

Hot weather management pays on broilers too. If you have trouble getting your broilers to eat during the heat of the day, try turning on the lights during the cool of the night. Broilers just won't eat enough when they are hot.

Summer management of layers, replacement pullets or broilers means keep them as cool as possible, provide plenty of good feed and water, and disturb them as little as possible. Try this prescription - it pays.

PASTURES

It will pay you to send in samples of the soil you plan to plant to fall pasture crops to the State Testing Laboratory at State College for detailed fertilizer analysis. This will enable you to use enough fertilizer without using more than is profitable.

Buy fall seed early. Oats, wheat, crimson clover, white clover, vetch, wild winter peas and ryegrass seed won't get any cheaper nor will they get any more plentiful before planting time.

Make sure that your fallowed land is disked often enough to retain moisture. If you need additional land to follow, go in after harvesting your silage crops and immediately plow and disk
the land for early fall planting.

Fall pasture crops planted on summer fallowed land make quicker growth and better stands.

HAY

Cut your hay before it gets too mature. Then don't let it lie in the swath or windrow until loses all its good quality. Cut leaves in early bloom stage, sowbeans when pods form. Sericea at 4 inches tall, wild hay meadows when grass begins to seed out, and Sudan or millet when first seed heads show up.

ing, says Jack Seuzeneau, manager of the local air field.

Luke Elliott of Baton Rouge will spend part of his vacation at Bay - 50% fishing with his dad.

Capt. Kidd and Teddy Stech-mann as usual were up Jordan River Saturday. They caught some green trout.

A Smorgasbord and Schnapps affair will be held Sat., August 21st for members and their guests of the Pass Christian Isles Golf Course - sure it will be a successful party - better come!

Joe Kern and a group of his good and they caught a lot of speckles.

Lady anglers - The Misses wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Fernandez, have just returned from a trip through Florida. Chris said he saw a lot of fishing, but couldn't do any himself. He saw a 17 lb. green trout caught there.

Some fish, he said.

The Election

Mississippi goes to the polls come Tuesday, and the folks of this area will elect men to three vital public offices. The campaigns have not been exciting. But the election is a serious matter. Here are this newspaper's views on the races.

FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR—James Eastland, the incumbent, is opposed by Carroll Gartin, the lieutenant governor, in a rather low-level campaign. Mr. Eastland has the experience of the office, although he has operated completely in the shade of outstanding Sen. Stennis. Mr. Gartin has little experience. Neither seemed to find much of a high level of comment in speeches. Sen. Eastland was able to cite his work on the Senate agricultural committee, which is important to Mississippi. Mr. Gartin talked mostly about Sen. Eastland, and about how Gartin could do anything better. Mr. Gartin apparently was caught in a terribly misleading statement when he claimed Eastland failed to walk down the aisle with Sen. Bilbo the last time Bilbo took the oath of office. What Mr. Gartin failed to mention was that Bilbo didn't walk down the aisle, either; he died before he got the chance. Sen. Eastland was guilty of some cheap demagoguery when he branded the CIO "Communists," which is certainly not. But the fact remains that Sen. Eastland has experience and an important chunk of seniority, whereas Mr. Gartin appears to have nothing except Hugh White. So we urge support of Sen. Eastland.

FOR CONGRESSMAN—Perhaps the most pointless thing in the world now is an editorial supporting Bill Colmer. He has done his job well over the years, and there's no one around who can challenge him. He works hard at legislating, and is a friend in need to many a constituent in every type of situation. So Mr. Colmer is the natural, and probably inevitable, choice for re-election.

FOR CHANCERY COURT JUDGE—Dan M. Russell, Sr., has served as chancery judge in this district since 1928. He served a previous term in another district from 1914 to 1922. He served four years as a law professor at the University of Mississippi. There can be no better qualifications for a man on the bench. His opponent, Cornelius Lachner, cannot match his experience. There is often a need of youth in public office, but this commodity of youth is least valuable in a judge. For judge you want a man who has "seen 'em all," master as law cases are concerned. So we urge re-election for Judge Russell.

An Emergency

The March of Dimes has launched an emergency campaign in the fight against polio. Give, and give generously. We are winning the fight against polio. But this costs money - tremendous amounts.

Remember this: the time or dollar you give now will speed you toward the day when there will be no March of Dimes, because there will be no polio.

Give Today To Secure Tomorrow

The Bay St. Louis Youth Center has begun its drive for necessary funds.

This worthwhile organization implores the help of each and every member of the community. It is their time of need. Time to make repairs. Time to plan for a year full of wholesome recreation for the teen-agers of Bay St. Louis.

The Youth Center is the greatest weapon against juvenile delinquency in any town. It keeps youngsters off the streets and out of trouble. It presents them with an opportunity to participate in supervised entertainment.

Interest in the teen-age club has grown in the past years. It is now at its highest peak. And with the help of the parents and other interested parties it shall continue to grow.

When you give today to help the Youth Center, you are securing the future of Bay St. Louis. You are aiding in building the young boys and girls into upstanding and valuable leaders of tomorrow.

As an outstanding youth benefactor once said, "It is better to make the youth of today than to repair the men of tomorrow."

Hot? Dr. Shipp Tells You Why, And How To Beat The Heat

(Editor's note—The Echo asked Dr. C. M. Shipp to write an article on the hot weather, and ways to beat it. Dr. Shipp complied but claims these are only his own ideas and perhaps not foolproof.)

Mark Twain has said everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it. This is a splendid attitude to accept.

According to the lay of the land, when you can't stand a thing, you just cooperate with the inevitable. The moral is, if you can't whip the opposition join 'em. Man doesn't stand alone in fighting the evil of heat.

Nature makes a mighty contribution. She slows the individual down in the production of heat. She gave him a sweating mechanism. She makes him breathe faster, throwing heat off through his lungs. She brings to the surface large quantities of blood to be cooled. She changes the chemistry of his body fluids and once in a while gives him a gentle breeze to hurry evaporation.

Now where does all this heat come from? Certainly not from the atmosphere or wind that blows upon us. The heat comes from the ground and the hard solid objects on the ground that can absorb heat. When the ground gets hot, the wind blowing across the earth gets heated. What makes the earth get hot? Well, of course, this heat comes from the sun. Heat comes from the sun's rays; you can't see these rays but you can feel them and maybe suffer pain for the feeling. This is a delayed skin reaction that does not always turn brown but instead an ugly pink red. These sun rays travel at the speed of light or seven and a half times around the earth in a second. Imagine that. This is millions times faster than anything made by man.

This is what happens. The energy built up while traveling at this terrific speed has to go somewhere. The only thing it can do is to be transferred into another kind of energy. Here we see speed energy transferred into heat energy, caused by the earth's resistance to speed. Meteoroids, commonly called falling stars, peter out by friction and disintegrate when they enter the earth's heavy atmosphere. This does not happen with the sun's rays. How these rays are speeded out of the surface of the exploding sun and travel at speed is not fully understood. Anyway, they are always a hurry and are pretty hot when they reach us, we all agree. We look at the sun and imagine that we see it, but this is not so. We see where the sun was eight minutes ago. If this is so these rays travel ninety three millions of miles in eight minutes.

How can anything hold together and keep its shape at this terrific speed? In outer space there is no atmosphere such as we breathe. It is almost a complete vacuum. Dark as Egypt, whatever that means, and three or four hundred degrees colder than any frost bitten spot on this earth. We can't get friction heat in a vacuum and in a temperature such as this. These are the things that baffle and perplex the mind, that is if we have energy enough to dig into it. We partially understand how it happens but don't know why it happens.

Now we are going to cooperate with the inevitable mentioned earlier.

Suggestion No. 1

Don't take aboard a cargo of heavy or too much food with enormous units of energy that have to be stored as fat or burned as heat. There are only the two ways that you can get rid of it.

Suggestion No. 2

Don't over exercise and heat up your muscles. This should not be hard to do.

Suggestion No. 3

Drink plenty of water to keep skin and kidneys functioning to capacity. No alcohol please. This turns any kind of energy into heat.

Suggestion No. 4

Don't get into a useless argument for this overworks the heat center in your brain, which is usually the end result of all arguments.

Suggestion No. 5

Open up your radiators with short sleeves, low necks and light clothes. Light, thin, porous clothes of cotton that give us sweat poured out in the form of sweat a chance to evaporate. All chilling processes are based on evaporation. This gave Lord Kelvin the idea to build the first refrigerator. And what a blessing this brought into every home. What a boon to public health was Pasteur with his pasteurization and Lord Kelvin with his refrigeration in the home. This did away with rotting food in present day temperatures. Yes, it removed the meat and milk from the spring house, besides other conveniences too many to mention.

Suggestion No. 6

Remember we need more salt when sweating freely to maintain electrolysis. The lack of it will cause slight fever and a feeling of fatigue.

Suggestion No. 7

There is a difference in sun stroke and heat stroke, but only your family physician can distinguish the difference. Advice is to cool the patient off with ice and call the family physician for the patient is going to vomit, have difficulty breathing, change color, and go into coma.

Buyers' Mart

Housing is big business in Bay St. Louis. New housing in particular is a point of interest these days, what with the new subdivisions projected in and about the city.

A Sunday afternoon's drive will cover them all, but herewith is a short itinerary to guide you.

Starting at Cedar Point, you might drive through the section called Bay Woods, which is one of the subdivisions facing the water.

This section's lots are being sold by L. L. Kergosien, real estate agent here - each lot 50 x 150.

This property, while not heavily wooded, has the advantages of excellent neighborhood and the nearness to the seawall, where the Cedar Point residents have their community pier.

Going along Dunbar Avenue toward the Highway 90 area, you will pass the new Melody Lane Subdivision, being set up by Frank Kiefer.

One house is being built now on this property, which spreads over spacious grounds on either side of a wide boulevard owned by the owner. He is also building a home of his own in the neighborhood.

Still traveling on Dunbar, toward the Highway 90 area, you will find the Highland property, owned by a white cypress fence.

This is the subdivision being built with the largest amount of government money backing yet obtained in Bay St. Louis. It is planned by the agents, A. G. Dantagnan; that 35 homes will be built in Highlands - a long, level area, having the advantage of high ground. This was one of the few places virtually unharmed by the 1947 hurricane.

Travel on Highway 90 then, to Blue Meadow Road where the first subdivision is one being set up by John McDonald.

This is a heavily wooded property on which one house, so far, is going up. You will be interested in this too as it is one of the new bondstone homes.

Further along the road, you will see Jordan River Isles, the property of A. E. Alexander in a lovely wooded section facing Jordan River. The lots can be located either on the River or the Canal running from the river in to Blue Meadow Road.

Ted Linam has extensive property on both sides of Blue Meadow Road further along the river. This has canals running through the property and is graced by much tree growth also.

Make a circle then and drive back to Highway 90, where another McDonald property, a virtual Pine Woods, is located just off the highway.

Going to Waveland, then, Molere Realty is handling the sales of lots in a subdivision on Jeff Davis, located directly across the street from the former C. D. Blair home.

McDonald has another subdivision located on South Beach and called Lakewood. Some pretty homes are being built on this land, which is near the water and also has interesting rolling acreage in the sections further back from the beach.

Also on the beach, and running all the way back to Railroad Avenue is a large chunk of land being parceled and sold by Gayle Aiken. This property, which has several new homes already in evidence, is big enough to provide a site to fit almost any buyer's specifications, running as it does from the waterfront with its landscaped grounds to the cleared, level, sections behind this.

If you're shopping for homes, you will want to view all these properties and get in touch with the agents who handle them. They will be glad to fill you in on all the details.

CARROLL GARTIN

The People's Candidate

For U. S. SENATOR

Will Be Elected on August 24 Because . . .

THE VOTERS WANT A FULL-TIME SENATOR

The thinking people of Mississippi are lining up solidly behind Carroll Gartin for U. S. Senator. They are for him because they know that by electing a man of high calibre who will be on the job full time, they will be casting a vote for good government.

The veterans, the farmers, the school teachers, the business people, the average citizens of Mississippi are for Carroll Gartin because they know he is talking good, solid, common sense when he said:

"Devotion to duty is worth more than any other consideration in the American congress. It was devotion to duty that caused Sen. John Stennis to be chosen to preside over the Senate more than any other member during the last year of the Democratic administration, even though he was a freshman at the time. It was loyalty to the Democratic party and the people he represented that caused Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to be chosen as Democratic floor leader while he was still a freshman senator.

"No other factor can approach the importance of attention to duty," Gartin continued, "and if you elect me your senator in the August 24 Democratic primary, I pledge you the last full measure of loyal and devoted service. I will be on the job all the time that congress is in session, and when congress is not in session I will be visiting with you that I may better know your problems and your wishes. In other words I will be your full time senator."

That is why the voters of Mississippi are going to elect Carroll Gartin their U. S. Senator on August 24th. They know that only a man who will devote his entire time and energies to the job can be of value to the people he represents. They know that Carroll Gartin will make the total fight for legislation to benefit the people of Mississippi and the nation. That's why you should . . .

A Statement From The Practicing Attorneys About The Chancery Court And Our Present Chancellor

In addressing this public statement to our clients, our friends, and fellow citizens with reference to the jurisdiction, dignity, and importance of the office of Chancellor of the Chancery Court, we do so in remembrance of the fact that all matters before this and other Courts, because of the complexities of the rules of the Court, are necessarily handled by lawyers; and as lawyers, therefore, we have the obligation of faithfully representing our clients in Court.

This duty can only be carried out when the lawyer remains concerned about the character and ability of the Judge of the Court; and as members of an old and honorable profession, who, under the English system of jurisprudence have represented others for over a thousand years, we respectfully present the facts as we know them with reference to our Chancery Court and the consequent need of a highly moral, deeply learned, honest and conscientious man as Chancellor.

We first want to say to the public that the Chancery Court is one of the oldest institutions in common law history and that it came into existence first, because in some cases, the law itself neither brought relief for wrongs committed or prevented the commission of wrong, and therefore in the conscience of the sovereign, there was sought some relief for those who could not be aided by the provisions of written or unwritten law and for this reason, Kings began to hear complaints and to give relief based upon equity, which is pure justice, rather than law; and, as the demands increased, this duty devolved upon a Chancellor and later gave rise to the system of the Chancery Courts which we, as Americans, under the provisions of our Constitution, inherited from England.

Therefore, the Chancery Court is not a Court of law, but a Court of equity and good conscience, open to all who have a claim of right, not always granted by the law, or who seeks refuge from a wrong, not always prevented by the law, and in addition to this jurisdiction, the Constitution of the State of Mississippi and the statutes of the State, have conferred other duties upon the Court, vast in scope and high and varied in character, which duties include, but are not limited to the confirmation of land title, the handling of all matters of domestic relations, estates of decedents, minors and insane persons and general jurisdiction over the custody and control of minor children; so we can readily see that within the varied jurisdiction of this Court we find matters involving our lands and other property when living, the administration of our estates upon our death, custody of our children's money and more sacred yet, the control and direction of these children while minors, and to this is included all of the matters of such tremendous importance which go along with the settlement of marital disturbances.

To handle this work satisfactorily and in keeping with the original purposes of the high office of Chancellor as known, both in the English and American law, a man must not only have mature experience, great legal learning and high moral character and integrity, but, he must also be in a way the keeper of the conscience of the people, and therefore, he must be impartial, a tolerant man, a kind man, a religious man, and a man who loves his fellow men.

Fortunately, for this Eighth District, for the past sixty (60) years, men of this high type have served as Chancellor of this District, and of those who have gone, we call to mind the names of Chancellors Hill, Wood, Stevens, Denny and Griffith, all men of eminence having the high moral character we speak of, and two of whom, Chancellors Stevens and Griffith, for many years after serving as Chancellors, were eminent members of our Supreme Court.

It is indeed fortunate for this district comprising the Counties of Harrison, Hancock and Stone, that for the past 25 years the above men have had an illustrious successor in the high office of Chancellor in our present Chancellor, Hon. D. M. Russell, who came to this high office after many years of service as a professor of law at the University of Mississippi, to which position he had been called from further service of eight years as Chancellor of an adjoining district. And, if nothing else existed to recommend Judge Russell to the people of this District, his work as law professor would be sufficient; for at the Bar of Mississippi there are no more distinguished leaders than the men who as students of the University of Mississippi were fortunate enough to share the learning in law, character and ethics than being taught by this fine man.

Judge Russell is a deeply religious man; still, his religion is in no way tinged with any manner of intolerance, for his actions in and out of Court show him to be the friend and the willing helper of every other man who believes as he does, in one Great and omnipotent God. Judge Russell is also a deeply learned man, at all times unaffected by his learning and knowledge of the law and modest to the point of embarrassment when it is referred to by the lawyers before him. Judge Russell is a plain, human man, understanding the weaknesses and the strength of his fellow man, with always some thought of sympathy for those who have failed in this strength; and, in addition to this, he brings to the great office he holds, the conscience, which the law says shall be a part of that office, so that its affairs will always be conducted in remembrance that the main purpose of its creation was to surmount the law, with justice, and right and equity.

Our Chancellor's private life is one that could well be emulated by any citizen of this State without loss of any of the fine things which go with life, and although it has brought great happiness and great sorrow, these emotions have been as calmly resolved, as he has resolved, the many complex questions touching the lives and property of thousands of people who have received justice in his Court.

We therefore say to our friends, that this Chancery District is indeed fortunate, that a man who has had so many high honors and has served his land for so many years has expressed his willingness to serve it for a further term of four years as Chancellor of this District, and while we, as lawyers, would not in any wise attempt to dictate to a client or friend his choice in any election held under our law, we do feel honored and proud that we may present to the electors of this district, that no Judge in the State of Mississippi, at this time, stands in higher esteem, both as to learning, character and kindness, than does Judge D. M. Russell, and we further believe that the welfare and best interests of all the people in the district will be served by returning Judge Russell to this high office.

We, therefore, expressly hope that upon August 24th, the electorate of this district will again grant us the privilege of serving for the coming four years at the bar of a great Court of Justice presided over by a great Judge, D. M. Russell.

Pass Christian News

By LUCILLE KOVACE

Just prior to officiating at the Skipperette races of the Pass Yacht Club, Commodore Jack Kerrigan suffered a mild heart attack and stroke while boating last Sunday morning. He was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital where he was reported as doing well the early part of this week.

The trophies which he was to have distributed at the annual skipperette race were given out by John M. Parker, Jr., and Bernard L. Knox, who in 1963 presented the first of the Pass skipperette races.

Pass Christian has won five times, Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans four times, and Gulfport and Biloxi each two times since the initial race. In the present races, Southern Yacht Club won on points, St. Petersburg, Fla., was second and Pass Christian was third completing the current races.

The first race, which the Pass won, was held Sunday afternoon. Southern Yacht Club came in second. In the Sunday morning race the Southern Yacht Club won and the Pass crew came in third. In the Sunday afternoon race, Bay-Wareland finished first and the Pass sixth.

Taking honors at the Pass crew were Lee Kerrigan as skipper, Rosalie Ambler and Lucille Kovace as crew.

W. S. Van Landingham, superintendent of Pass Christian public schools, announces the opening of the schools this year as falling on September 1st. All first grade students must have birth certificates.

The faculty for the coming school year be announced as follows: first grade, Miss Catherine Macdonald; second grade, Miss Naomi Sasser; third grade, Miss Irene Hanger; fourth grade, Miss Adelle Stenberg; fifth grade, Miss Leah Murphy; sixth grade, Miss Kenneth Sangster. For the high school, Mrs. Gladys Broaden and Miss Janice Summers will teach English; Miss Opal Stikman, Commercial subjects; Mrs. Louis Broome, Mathematics; Mr. Kenneth Sangster, Science; Miss Gloria Clay, Home Economics; Miss Rosalee Lindsey, History; Jack Holloway, coach and Mr. Van Landingham, Social Studies.

The Executive Board of the Pass PTA held its first meeting August 11th at the home of Mrs. Margaret Kelly, East Beach, Pass Christian. Plans were made for the coming year's PTA activities. It was announced that there will be a workshop under the sponsorship of the State PTA. It will be held in Oceanville August 16th, 9:30 to 12:30. A full, well-rounded program is planned. Each state head will advise all chairmen of their duties and a skill on the value of PTA publications will be given.

A box lunch will be provided for all those attending. All members in Harrison County Council are invited.

Albert J. Kern, headmaster of Kern School on the Gulf in the Pass, announces that the U. S. Navy has approved the Kern School for an Honor Naval Unit which will participate in the school's naval program and will be eligible for the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

At its regular monthly meeting last Thursday night the Pass Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring the enactment of a state-wide stock law. A letter to that effect was written to the Governor, asking that proper legislation be passed, if possible, at the Special Session of the Legislature in September.

Another resolution passed at the meeting approved the extension of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. as it is recognized as a progressive step toward toll-free service for the entire coast. The Pass Chamber expressed the hope that the Pass residents will favor this extended service.

Commendation was also expressed by the Chamber for the beach property owners who have done such splendid work in improving the appearance of beach property. All beach property owners were asked to cooperate in giving a "check-up" to their property so that U. S. 90 might have an unobstructed view. Considering the large investment made in government improvement of this widely traveled road, it is entirely fitting that beach lots be kept in good repair.

This responsibility extends to the general public and the Pass Chamber called upon a program of education which would educate the "inner-bugs" who enjoy the beach then leave bottles, cans, and remnants of picnic spread about. A campaign to prevent motorists from throwing cans and bottles out of cars was also envisioned.

A final point stressed by the Chamber was the delivery of mail to citizens living in its geographical area but having to be serviced as Rural Route One, Long Beach. These are people east of Bay Avenue. A report on this matter has been submitted to J. Walters Terrell, Postmaster, Pass Christian, so that efforts can be limited to extend Pass service to the East corporate limits and permit all Pass residents to have their mail addressed properly to the Pass.

Some boys are really lucky. Billy Scarborough takes a trip every year with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strong of Jackson, Miss. This year, Mrs. Strong cannot leave but Mr. Strong and Billy left this week for Mexico. They enter the country near Monterey and plan to see Mexico City, Acapulco and many other interesting places during their ten-day vacation.

Ty Robin, who had been going to Camp Leconte in the Smoky Mountains, decided to go West this year and left with a group of Boy Scouts from New Orleans for the Kin Canyon Ranch just outside Cameron, New Mexico. Ty will be gone for almost three weeks and is having a grand time but writes home that the nights are really cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Melba Fuller who came all the way from Denver to live in Wareland have brought a big lot in Golf Gardens in front on Golf Drive. This week the workmen cut down the trees on the site where the house will be built and next week Mr. Fuller and his grandson, Bobby Simon, will start building the white fence. The house will probably be started in September. Doris Simon, their daughter, with Bobby and Judy will be with them for two weeks. Bobby Simon will take a week's vacation to be with the family. Lady Judy is visiting her friend Peggy Knight in Houston, Texas. Peggy's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Knight are long time friends of Bob and Doris Simon as they lived in Baton Rouge and came to New Orleans quite often.

Visitors to the home of Dean and Mrs. James Robert last week were Mrs. Gayle Stenches and Miss Abbie Robert of New Orleans. During the week the Roberts drove over to Gulf Shores, Ala., where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hardy of Auburn, Ala., who have a cottage on the beach.

Doris and Margaret Withers, upon their summer home, Spoonville on the Jordan River, for a couple of weeks. Nancy is still away at Camp up in Vermont but Wardlaw and Alice and their friends find plenty to do.

Rose and Barbara Monroe back at their Wareland Cottage after eight weeks in Highlands, N. C. The weather was marvelous. Cool enough for swimmers and cozier at night. Imagined Doris has just returned from a visit to Silver Beach, Florida, where she will be the guest of Claudia Milling. Alice is still at camp at Green Cove, N. C., but gets home next week. Marcia and Linda go away to school this year. Marcia will be at St. Katherine's in Charlottesville, Va. and Linda will be at Farmington in Connecticut.

News from Malcolm and Mary Monroe and their family who have been vacationing in Canada, finds them at this time in British Columbia, salmon fishing.

Plenty of company for Mrs. R. M. Pyles on South Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deacon and children Jerry and Ginger were over last week end. At the same time, pretty Nancy Lee Mason came over from New Orleans for a visit. Mrs. Pyles's niece, the Misses May, Anita and Laura Deacon are spending two weeks with her. In spite of the heat, they have a wonderful time swimming, fishing and crabbing.

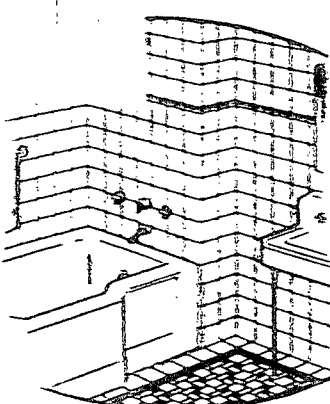

Dr. John Connor, of Loyola University, and Mrs. Connor have recently purchased a home at 5500 Sycamore Street, in Bay St. Louis. These children, Dick and Angela are with them at this time. Their other daughter, Mrs. Will Southerland and John, the new baby, have come over from New Orleans for a visit.

Visitors at The Stock's Nest. No not babies this time. Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Burdfield, of Biloxi, Miss., are vacationing at the one little brown home of Dr. and Mrs. Urban Stock of Evansville, Ill. that they built last winter on the beach at Wareland. Mrs. Burdfield is a niece of Mrs. Stock. The fishing has been good and the Burdfields caught a lot of speckles, one was inches long.

Last week end, the Ivan Pommans came over from New Orleans to be with Margaret and Don Chamberlain, and most of the visiting was done on the boat. Special guests of Don Chamberlain, Jr., were Brad Porman and Tommy Chambers of Hattiesburg, Ga.

Many honors for the Seaman and Johnson families of Pass Christian and New Orleans. Coco Johnson Seaman (Mrs. William H. Jr.) representing the Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans and the Gulf Yachting Association, took her crew over to Houston, Texas, for the special events at the Houston Yacht Club and cleaned up. There were to have been five races in the Ladies Championship of North America and the only other contender was Houston so when Coco and her shipmates took the first three races the other two were called.

now. That is spelled T-I-G-E-R. I have been asked from what system we will work this year. All I can tell you is that you will determine that. The main thing I want you to remember is that "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits."

"For the past few weeks I have not been able to eat or sleep. The reason for that is you won't let me sleep. You worry me. It is your fault that I do not sleep or eat. And I'll tell you this, I won't be doing much of either until the very last game of the season. We have a rough schedule ahead of us. But I want you to know that there is no such thing as a hard schedule. After all, the other team cannot put more than 11 boys on the field at one time. We will field the same number."

"I have been coaching for a good number of years and you are the finest bunch of high school boys I have ever seen. You are all pretty big and as a whole you are an average size."

"I told you that I don't want you going out at night. I am not against you having girl friends. But the thing that I ask is that you tell her that you will see her on Saturday and Sunday."

"I want you to understand the things that I have told you here today. For I am not the type of man that will repeat himself." With these words Lumpkin started his ball players in various exercise drills to toughen their bodies. As he led the way his players followed with much enthusiasm.

They showed a quick reaction to the little talk given them by their new coach - a man who loves to win - a man who loves the game of football; a man with a great love for his new position as a Bay High Tiger.

BAY HIGH OPENS PRE-SEASON PRACTICE UNDER COACH LUMPKIN

Coach Lance Lumpkin opened pre-season football practice at Bay High Monday.

"I have never seen a better looking bunch of high school boys," Coach Lumpkin said.

About 30 boys reported for practice. Among those were 14 lettermen from last year's team.

The new coach plans to work his boys out in shorts for the first three days. He said, "By Thursday I will have them in pads. For the first couple of days I want to look them over and get to know them."

Lumpkin is being assisted by Coach Robert Ladner and Coach Caldwell.

The lettermen who reported Monday were Donald Cole, Hugo Favre, Milton Favre, Tommy Holden, Donald Landis, Larry Landrum, Manuel Maurigi, Henry Monti, Charles Maron, Grady Perkins, Kent Sellier, Clayton Adams, Brooks and De Hon.

Pre-Nuptial Fetes For Bay Girl

Pre-nuptial events honoring pretty bride-elect, Mary Jane Green, daughter of Mrs. John A. Green of this city and her fiancé, Ralph Christman of New Orleans, are occupying much of the couple's visiting time here during summer weekends.

Their wedding will take place on September 4th.

Among the parties planned by friends at the Bay, are a luncheon by Mrs. G. William Nott and her daughter Isabel, on August 14th, a brunch and kitchen shower by Mrs. E. P. Kirkpatrick on August 21, the Doe Dinner by Mrs. Octave Delph on August 31st and the after rehearsal party by Mr. and Mrs. Roger M. Boh, Mr. and Mrs. Marion J. Wolfe, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Hadden, on Sept. 3rd.

In New Orleans, parties for Mary Jane and Ralph will be given by Col. and Mrs. Leo Davis, Mrs. Louis J. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Gary F. LeGros, Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Jaubert and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Stocker.

There will be many guests for the wedding to include their many friends all along the Coast, in New Orleans and from Houston where Mr. and Mrs. Green lived when they were first married.

Waveland Notes

MISS C. TURCOTTE

J. D. Bourgeois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois, celebrated his eleventh birthday on Saturday at his home on Market St.

Games were played throughout the afternoon and refreshments of punch, cookies and candy were enjoyed by the young guests.

Among those who attended were Jo Ann and Diana Saucier, David and Larry Thibaux, Joe, David, Eileen and Carol McMahon, Mary Toni, Sylvia and Don Ladner, Stanley and Debro Weidman, Kathy and Carol La Nasa, Lynelle and Guyann Drew, Ree and Patsy Elliott, Aggie Bourgeois, Mickey McGill, Malvin Wilson, Aaron Bruns, Sally Yarbrough, Patsy and Miller Bozeman, Elaine Celsi, Lynn Hall, Helen Means, will come over from New Orleans to Saturday to help Mrs. Kirkpatrick with the party for Mary Jane.

Christy Cobb, Bobbie Landers, and Butch and Roddy Henley.

Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois and children, Patricia and J. D. and Mrs. Phillip La Nasa and daughter, Kathy and Carol spent Monday in Gulfport.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klein and grandson, Robert are spending a week at their home on Market St.

Mesdames Harry Lynch and Joe Colson spent Tuesday in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Eichhorn and son, Marcus are spending the month of August at the Paul Seldin cottage on Sears Avenue.

ST. STANISLAUS WILL OPEN PRE-SEASON PRACTICE MONDAY

St. Stanislaus will begin its pre-season training session Monday morning. Practices will be held at the Stanislaus stadium on Neuse Avenue.

Morning and afternoon training periods are planned.

This year's team will be under the direction of Coach Farley Day, Brother Phillip and the new assistant coach Herb Adams. Coach Adams replaces Henry Helm, who resigned earlier in the summer to accept a job in the public school system in New Orleans.

There is only one change of teams from last year's schedule for Stanislaus. Our Lady of Victory of Pascagoula will fill the date left by McDonough High of New Orleans.

The local high school has a schedule of ten games. There is one open date on the list.

Because of false rumors going around town it has become necessary for me to publish this notice:

One—I am not moving to Gulfport.
Two—I am glad to make house calls at any time.

T. A. Quigley, M. D.
